

Parameter Space Visualization

Control device
(many parameters)

Black Box

Results

We would like to use visualization techniques from multi-variate imaging to control and visualize the impact of the large number of parameters visualization tools have. The simulation code can be considered as a black box to the application engineer, and the visualization is to enable him to estimate the impact of different parameters without knowing what happens inside the black box.

This project is offered as Seminar + Praktikum!

Get in touch with combined scientific and information visualization!

Contact: raphael@cg.tuwien.ac.at